

PROGRAMME & PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Do you have the required skills and capability to implement transformational change?

Do you have confidence in your approach to project management?

A passion to deliver

Effective project management is key to delivering the agreed business benefits. Without a defined approach to delivering complex business change, your business risks losing part or all of the planned benefits as well as consuming your investment.

LOC's core competence is delivering large and complex projects and programmes. Our consultants are experts in applying and adapting leading practice delivery methodologies to produce the relevant framework to suit your specific needs. Our approach to delivery is based on the project lifecycle, ensuring our assignments are managed in a consistent & effective way.

Our consultants are experienced at managing and working with your partners and suppliers and taking a flexible but directive approach to ensure the full realisation of the agreed business benefits. We are committed to building the trust of our clients and improving their internal capabilities through leadership, mentoring and transfer of skills.

LOC provides the following...

Programme Management

As a client-side consultancy, LOC adopts a 'thin layer' approach to programme management – the right skills effectively deployed to complement the client team. We seek to minimise administration while focusing on the activities that bring value to your organisation. We define success by exceeding delivery expectations and extending the capability of your existing team.

Project Management

Our project management framework mirrors our programmatic approach. Scope, milestones, critical success factors and key performance indicators are documented and carefully managed, along with constraints such as budget and key deadlines or targets.
